COMING THROUGH the morning mist, a procession of Christ Episcopal Church parishioners, led by Bishop Maury Allin walk from the church to the Sunday School building for dedication ceremonies naming the 100-year-old structure Johnson Hall, in honor of Father Charles Johnson, rector. Fr. Johnson's two grandchildren ran to walk with him in the procession.

Bishop Allin Officiates At Christ Episcopal Dedication

On a misty Sunday morning parishioners of Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis dedicated the church's Sunday School building to their rector, Father Charles R. Johnson, in honor of his 25 years of service to the parish, church and schools.

The Right Reverend John Maury Allin, Bishop of Mississippi and newly appointed Episcopal Bishop of the United States, officiated at the dedication ceremonies Dec. 30 at Christ Episcopal Church.

At 10 o'clock mass Bishop Allin performed confirmation services for the parish and at the conclusion of the service, dedicated the church's organ to the memory of the late Imogene and Phillip Allison, long time members of Christ Episcopal Church. Although the Bishop and parishioners were made aware of the Johnson Hall dedication plans, everything had been kept secret from Fr. Johnson, who concurrently was celebrating his 25th anniversary as rector of Christ Episcopal.

At the conclusion of the church services, Bishop Allin and acolytes, bearing the cross and flagstaffs, led a procession from the church to the carriage house, recently renovated into a Sunday School building and steeped in tradition. Fr. Johnson followed, with a small grandchild at each hand and behind him came a long procession of singing choir members and parishioners walking in the morning mist.

In his dedicatory address, Bishop Allin praised Fr. Johnson for long years of work and perseverance through trials and tribulations as a parish priest and headmaster of the school, which he began some 20 years ago. The building was blessed and a sign hung proclaiming the 100 year old structure Johnson Hall.

"I learned from Charles Johnson," the Bishop said. "I learned to believe in miracles from watching him through long years of association." A brunch for all celebrants attending and hosted by the Women of the Church concluded the impressive event.

School Students In The Dark Over Time Change

A contingent of seven parents upset over their children waiting on corners in darkness for school buses as a result of an early change to Daylight Savings Time asked county school board members Tuesday to delay school openings one hour before, warning that they and other parents may boycott local stores and businesses unless some changes are made soon.

"It's absolutely ridiculous the hour that some of these children are getting out on these corners to catch the bus," said Mrs. Doris Richards who said that she has a 13-year-old daughter at Hancock North Central.

Mrs. Richards said many other parents had phoned her to complain of the situation.

"It's not that much of a problem with me because my children are bigger," she said, "but other parents with smaller children are afraid to let their children go out."

County school students, who must travel farther to reach schools than Bay

St. Louis students, have been affected more by the early change to DST than city school children.

Assistant school superintendent E.E. Breland said that bus pickups begin at 6:30 a.m. in the Pearllington area or about an hour and a half before daylight.

The county's two elementary schools, Charles B. Murphy and Gulfview at Lakeshore, begin classes at 7:45 a.m., but most students are deposited at the schools at 7 a.m. in order to give the buses time to take the high school students to Hancock North Central School miles away. Classes at HNC begin at 8:15 a.m.

Board chairman Horace "Red" Davis said that he felt the group had some very valid complaints, but that the problem lay with the city schools.

The board was in favor of pushing back school openings in the county as much as one hour to accommodate the early change to DST, Davis said, but had not met with cooperation from the city school system.

Breland agreed saying "this board went on record before the holidays in favor of moving back school openings one hour."

He said however, that James Sones, director of the Vocational Trade School

Health Dept.

Has Flu Vaccine

Wayne S. Alliston, Administrative Assistant of the Hancock County Health Department, announced the Monovalent Type "B" Flu vaccine has arrived at the local health department on Dunbar Ave.

Persons who had the first injection and want the extra precaution of the new vaccine are advised to come on Mondays from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. or Thursdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. There is only a limited supply on hand, Mr. Alliston added.

Doctors On Duty Round The Clock At Hancock General

Hancock General Hospital offers the public complete, round the clock emergency room coverage with a physician on duty at all times, according to a statement from Mrs. Mona Santiago, hospital director.

There is a doctor in the hospital every night from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. and all day on Saturdays and Sundays as well as all holidays.

However, the public should be aware that there are only two resident doctors available to cover the hospital emergency room during daytime hours, Mrs. Santiago stated. Those persons needing emergency medical attention between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. are asked to go to the doctor's office rather than the hospital so the physician doesn't have to leave patients waiting in his office.

There is a qualified doctor on duty in the hospital every night and patients needing medical care after 6 p.m. are urged to go to the hospital emergency room for treatment.

Bay Oil Company Rapped For Use Of Defective Tanks

The Bay St. Louis city council moved to prohibit construction or use of bulk gasoline storage tanks within city limits Monday after hearing of a recent hazardous incident from Fire Chief Richard Payard and assistant chief Robert Andrews.

Payard told the council that the fire department had sought a holding order Dec. 28 against the Bay Oil Company located on Necaise and Bookter Street after it was discovered that the company was putting gasoline into some old storage tanks that belonged to the former Shell Oil Bulk plant here. That plant was involved in an explosion and burned two years ago, he said.

Payard said that the department received a call from a resident that tanker trucks were unloading the gasoline at the old bulk plant. Before they arrived, he said, the trucks had already unloaded about 8,000 to 18,000 gallons of regular gasoline and another 4,000 gallons of kerosene into the tanks.

Payard told the council that his department was never contacted and asked for a permit to refill the tanks, which were supposed to have been removed after the original fire.

After inspection it was discovered that the tank which was holding the kerosene was faulty, he said. Andrews said later that the metal was damaged by the heat stress of the fire plus some corrosion.

Andrews said that Bay Oil was ordered to remove all the kerosene and was given a list of demands that would have to be met within two weeks.

"Or every bit of that gas will have to be removed too," he said.

Andrews said that the department was waiting on a letter from Monroe Oil Company stating that the company will remove the tanks within 90 days to Bluff.

Mayor Warren Carver said that he had also heard that some citizens were talking of putting in underground storage tanks on their property in anticipation of the expected gas shortage. The firemen said that the department had received one query from a citizen about whether he could do this and had done some checking with the state Rating Bureau.

Andrews said that the department found that there was nothing illegal about it as long as certain guidelines were followed, but that insurance companies would not cover any such action.

In other business the council let die a motion from Mayor Carver to discontinue the services of the city court clerk. Carver, saying that he was not going to bring the matter up again, had sought to have the services of the court clerk performed by his office. Carver said that this would save the city $500 a year.

The council agreed to defer payment of interest on money received as part of state disaster funds after Hurricane Camille for 10 days or until the state legislature had resolved the bill seeking forgiveness of the loans to coastal cities. The city owes $3,996 in interest. In other action the council agreed to discontinue flat field allowances for mileage and to compute payments on the basis of actual mileage beginning Feb. 1.

Work To Start On Sewer Treatment Plant

Work on the city of Waveland's $1.2 million sewage treatment plant will begin January 14 under terms of contract between the city and Wallace Industrial Constructors of Mississippi, Inc., the Pascagoula firm who will construct the facility. The plant will be located on 40 acres of ground extending from Gulf Side and St. Joseph streets.

Waveland is receiving 75 percent of the $1,281,000 cost of the plant from the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Clarence Evans, city engineer for Waveland, said that work had already begun on a roadway leading from Gulf

Side and Cambell St. to the plant site. Under terms of the contract, Wallace has 365 days from the date of the notice to proceed to complete construction work.

The facility will be able to handle a million and a half gallons of raw sewage per eight hour day and treated outflow will be more than 90 percent pure.

When completed the plant will be almost 100 percent automated and will have complete automatic quality control. It is expected to be one of the most modern facilities in the Southeast.

Port & Harbor Position Still In Stalemate

Resolution of the appointment of a Port and Harbor director remained in a stalemate this week when Hancock county supervisors refused to act on a Port and Harbor commission resolution naming Steven Douglas Smith of South Carolina as director.

In the resolution, proffered by the commission attorney Gerald Gex, the commission recommended an annual salary of $18,000 plus automobile, health insurance, expenses and mileage on a reimbursable basis for Smith and with no stipulation as to contract in regard to tenure.

The resolution, drawn at a special meeting Jan. 8 carried with five voting in favor, one against and one abstaining.

A denunciation of Smith as director by beat one supervisor Jerry Ladner was cut short by board president A.A. "Dolph" Keller calling for a roll call vote on the matter.

The matter, which has been at an impasse for some weeks remained so as supervisors could not agree on whether to vote on the resolution or to hold the matter in abeyance until Monday's meeting.

In an unrelated matter, a request from Ladner to start a revenue sharing repair project on White's Road in Pearllington died for lack of a second. The board's reason for rejection of the job was that the estimated $29,725 cost of the road repair coupled with a projected $23,500 for a Heron Bay bridge repair commitment would run in excess of Ladner's revenue sharing fund balance of $29,368. Later Ladner vehemently objected to the refusal, saying, "I can't figure out why a bridge which serves approximately four families year round, going into a subdivision, should supercede one of the oldest roads in the county which serves more than 1,000 people and is the main road in the Pearllington community."

BEATING THE DEADLINE—Bay St. Louis tax collector Clarence M. Ladner and his staff had their hands busy Tuesday as people stood in line to pay their ad valorem and business taxes. The office which extended its hours after the first of the year in anticipation of the January rush to pay taxes is maintaining 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. hours Monday through Friday and remaining open during the lunch hour. In addition the office is opening Saturday mornings from 8 a.m. until 12 noon for the convenience of taxpayers. Persons have until Feb. 1 to pay ad valorem and business taxes before a penalty of 1/2 of one percent is charged.

Old Papers Welcome At Seminary

For many years the Brothers of St. Augustine's Seminary in Bay St. Louis have collected old newspapers, bottles, glass jars and magazines which they sell to support the seminary.

All donations of newspapers, glass and other items can be deposited in the shed on Ruella St. just off Seminary Drive. Anyone having difficulty finding the shed can ask one of the Brothers, novices or students to direct him.

Due to an increasing amount of work at the seminary and the shortage of Brothers, it is no longer possible for the Brothers to continue the pick up service at homes as before, but Br. James asks that residents please continue to bring papers and bottles to the seminary.

SUPER SHORT is the route these Bay High students took when some 40 or more students were told Monday by Principal Robert Magee to get hair shaved by Tuesday morning. Some had to return to barbers for repeat performances but the three students above went all the way - up. Four others got their heads shaved!

Bay High Students Get Post Holiday Clipping

It's not spring yet, but Bay Senior High School Principal Robert Magee made a clean sweep at school Monday when, after taking a close look at some of the male students' hair, he sent an estimated 40 to 50 students off to get clipped.

In announcing the directive over the school loud-speaker, Magee noted that most barbers were closed on Mondays but directed shaggy students to find a way to shear their hair and turn out for an 8:30 a.m. inspection in his office Tuesday.

Most barbershops were closed, so beauty shops around town came in for a good bit of teenage male business. However, Tuesday morning a rather large percentage of students didn't pass muster and were sent out again. By noon Tuesday, some had even gone for a third try, and the mounting cost of several haircuts at $2 to $3 a whack, if you'll pardon the pun, was beginning to irritate some parents.

Typically, students reacted in various ways to the hair haul. Most did what was expected of them and exposed ears, backs-of-necks-and-foreheads. Others, more conservative and possibly more tenacious to a principle, cut in slow stages and had to go back for repeated bouts.

Several really imaginative types went all out. Three young men appeared in Magee's office looking like new inductees in the Army - shingled and very short, a sort of return to the 1940's. And four others aren't going to have to worry about hair code infractions for a long time.

They shaved it ALL off!

"Mr. Magee didn't tell us to do this," one hastened to explain. "We just figured it would be the best way not to have any problem for awhile."

Magee said he couldn't give the Echo an accurate head count of students sent for haircuts as he hadn't kept a list. Teachers just sent in students they felt were in violation of the hair code which states that the hair is to be cut and groomed in a way that it does not extend over the eyes; it may extend one half inch over the top of the ears. It must be shingled in the back and on the sides and must not extend beyond a normal shirt collar. Hair may not extend out from the scalp more than two inches and sideburns may extend to one half inch below the bottom of the ear-lobe. Boys are to be clean shaven with no moustaches, beards or goatees. Apparently the hair code does not apply to faculty as there are one or two moustachioed teachers.

"I'd been letting it slide before the holidays," Magee explained, "but after a two-week layoff we have to get back in line."

Waveland JC's Honor Carl Frickes

Waveland Jaycees held a Christmas party December 22 for residents of the Hancock County home for the aged.

Following a social hour with refreshments, Santa Claus arrived and presented each patient with a gift.

The party concluded with James Fayard, chairman for the project, presenting a plaque from the Jaycees to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frickes in appreciation for their dedication in caring for the aged at the home.

Al Bourgeois, president, reported the Waveland

Chapter of the Mississippi Jaycees has been successful in its first six months of existence. Mr. Bourgeois stated Waveland, one of the 74 Mississippi Chapters extended in 1973, has remained within the top 15 in competition for the best new chapter. Competition for this honor will conclude in June 1974.

Any man residing in Waveland or surrounding areas, regardless of age, is invited to join the new chapter and the community is asked to support its projects, Mr. Bourgeois concluded.

Lee Spence Named To ABA Committee

Lee R. Spence, vice president and trust officer of Hancock Bank, has been named to the recently established Community Banks Committee, Trust Division, of the American Bankers Association for 1974.

He will attend the National Trust Conference in San Francisco, in conjunction with his appointment, and participate in the Community Banks business sessions at the conference.

Committee membership, which is composed of eight top trust executives in banks throughout the country, represents a cross-section of current theory and practices pertaining to trust department operation, estate planning and management.

A newly organized committee of the American Bankers Association, it is geared to assist medium size banks in the effective handling and administration of their trust services. Emphasis will be placed on studying trust activities of banks nationwide in order to make recommendations and policies to enhance expansion of trust services in smaller banks.

Spence was named to this committee because of his experience in the trust field. Prior to joining the Hancock staff, he served with the U.S. Internal Revenue Service as chief of the estate tax division for the district of Mississippi. He has also been associated with trust departments of Deposit Guaranty National Bank, Jackson, and Fort Worth (Texas) National Bank, where he specialized in estate planning, pension and profit-sharing plans, and trust and estate administration.

He attended Perkinson Junior College, and was graduated from the Jackson School of Law and the St. Louis Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers University. He is a member of the Mississippi, Texas and American bar associations, and a member and past president of the Estate Planning Council of Mississippi.

Spence is a native of Pass Christian where he now resides with his wife and family.

SSI Program Checks Mailed

This month many thousands of people in Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River, and Stone counties — among over 3.1 million persons nationally — are receiving their first Federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) checks, according to Charles E. Wofford, manager of the Gulfport Social Security Office. "As could be expected, such a massive new program was bound to have a few snags in it at first," said Mr. Wofford. But fortunately, only a very small percentage of the total number of persons currently eligible for payments did not receive their first check for various reasons. These reasons range from their having moved without notifying us of a change of address to a change in living arrangements and possibly an undetected clerical error which prevented our computers from processing certain checks.

However, the vast majority — more than 95 percent — have already received their first SSI check or will receive it soon. We are asking all persons whom we've previously advised to expect a gold-colored "SSI" check in the mail in January 1974, to notify us immediately if the check is not delivered within the next few days. We want everyone previously getting payments under state aid to the aged, blind and disabled programs to receive a January check even if that check arrives late in the month.

Wofford also said that most of the persons found to be newly eligible based on the SSI claims they filed directly with Social Security Offices through October 1973, had also received a January check or would be receiving one in the next few days. He added, however, that some SSI claims filed later in the year have not been in the system long enough to be processed. "We're processing all recent claims just as quickly as possible," Wofford said that people who wish to report a non-receipt of check should call 896-1323. Individuals outside of the local area are invited to call collect.

Plans Get Underway For National Library Week

National Library Week planning at the grassroots level gets underway January 10 as some 75 NLW local chairmen across Mississippi join forces in Jackson, announced Howard Langfitt, National Library Week 1974 state chairman.

Registration is at 10 a.m., with the statewide session beginning at 10:30 a.m. at Primos Northgate.

National Library Week is slated April 21-27, 1974, Langfitt added.

The community representatives, non-librarians who coordinate the annual observance in their hometowns, will hear how to involve citizens in creating library awareness and how to make the most of local publicity opportunities.

Luncheon speaker, Paul Pittman, Tyler town Times editor, will talk about National Library Week as a year-round observance.

Panelists include Jim Iannone of Jackson, Mrs.

Chandler Clover of Jackson, and Mrs. Philip Means of Tupelo.

Mrs. Annabelle Crowther of Vicksburg is this year's National Library Week executive director; with Mrs. Jane Bryan of McComb associate director. Francis Lundy of Jackson is associate chairman.

Officers were elected for the coming year at a Tuesday night meeting of the Hancock County Firemen's Association.

Elected president was Bay Fire Chief Richard Fayard, and other officers include Jerry Todd, vice-president, and Charles Jackson, secretary-treasurer. Both men are members of the Clermont Harbor Volunteer Fire Dept. which hosted the meeting.

Panelists include Jim Iannone of Jackson, Mrs.

Health Committee Recommends Ten-Point Program For State

The 17-member Select Committee for Health made its report Monday (January 7, 1974) and recommended a ten point program of legislation in the field of health care in Mississippi.

The major recommendation of the Committee concerns reorganization of Mental Health functions into a Department of Mental Health.

The Committee recommended that the Legislature look at current plans for reorganization of the Board of Health and require a full report of reorganization progress from the State Health officer prior to the 1975 Legislative Session.

The report noted that a Peat, Marwick, Mitchell study in 1972 revealed that 65 different State health and health related agencies expended $147 million. The report said there was "ample documentation of duplication, overlap, and even competition among State agencies as to services, patients, and appropriations."

The Committee recommended that no major capital improvements be made at the State's Charity Hospitals unless sufficient to meet JCAH Standards and that a continuing program be carried on to assess the impact and need for these hospitals after Supplemental Security Income and extension of Medicaid benefits have been effected.

The Committee recommended that legislation be enacted to authorize joint agreements between county and city governments to provide improved solid waste management and to regulate and control the management and disposal of all solid wastes in the State.

The Committee also recommended legislation to require mandatory fluoridation of all public water systems by July 1, 1976 and to provide 50 percent State matching grants for this purpose.

The Committee recommended that the Mississippi Insurance Commission make comparative studies in health insurance payback ratios to make sure Mississippi consumers get full value for their health insurance dollar.

The Committee recommended that the legislature take actions to permit the State to take advantage of the Supplemental Security Income program from the federal government that would extend the number of people covered by Medicaid benefits and urged that the legislature appropriate the necessary funds for this program.

The Committee further recommended continuing education for hospital trustees and urged support of the "Emergency Medical Services Act of 1974".

Committee Chairman Richard Malone said the Committee would continue to work in the field of health services and would be active during through 1974 and into 1975.

The Select Committee for Health was named on September 4, 1973 and was comprised of the following members:

United States, with few exceptions. Forms on which to submit the reports are available at any post office or office of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service. Persons who are unable to pick up a form because of illness, or other reasons, may have a friend or relative obtain a card for them.

March Of Dimes Drive Underway

The Hancock County Chapter of the National Foundation of the March of Dimes opened its 39th annual drive January 1 with a road block at Main St. and Hwy 90. A group of teenagers, led by Ronnie Magee as T.A.P. chairman and Mary Ann Schindler as co-chairman, conducted the road block. Other members of the group are Mike Magee, Pam Magee, Kathleen Schindler, Cathy Webre, Janet Hamilton, Lucinda Kidd, David Trellis, Valerie Trellis and Michele Viscari. The total amount collected by the group for the road block was $367.98.

Mrs. Theo Tudury, Sr., Hancock County chapter chairman, is asking for volunteers for the Mothers' March. She also stated that 4800 mailers have been sent out and coin collectors have been placed in business places in the area. Mrs. Tudury said that these will be the only fund-raising events and urged the public to give generously.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

BACK IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS, Christmas-time used to be known as the Yuletide; the big Yule log, specially cured and prepared, was lighted on Christmas Eve—and burned and smoldered for the whole twelve days of the Christmas season. Holly—the word derived from "holly"—was cut in the woods and spread around the house for a decoration; later, the Christmas tree was set up in the corner and decorated with tinsel and candles, and the roast sucking pig, apple in mouth graced the board laden with all the popular foods of the season.

Halfway through the Yuletide came the new year, but in those days no one gave it any special consideration. Julius Caesar, who is credited with devising the calendar, merely designated it as the first day of the month of Janus, the two-faced god, and nobody attached special significance to it. It was not until after the great fire in London in 1666, and the end of the terrible bubonic epidemic of that year that people began to attach importance to the beginning of a new year and to hope that it would be the start of better things in the future. Since then it has developed into one of the gayest and happiest times of the whole year, a symbol of hope and new beginnings, a closing of the books on the trials and tribulations of the passed months.

History grinds on, from the comparatively simple problems of past ages to the intricate relationships of the present. Mankind and nations have evolved from the differences between two parties or two nations to arguments affecting whole continents and many peoples. In our own nation alone, differences involving only small parts of the people, or even bigger ones such as the Civil War, have become intricate, involving the welfare and happiness of millions of people.

So after twelve months of tenseness in national issues to individual and family problems of welfare and survival, we welcome the coming of a New Year which may, and can, un-complicate our lives and enable us to enjoy peace and the good things around us. It is a "consummation greatly to be desired," and it starts with the Happy New Year Day—which we sincerely wish for every one of you!

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

A YEAR TO REMEMBER

Historians will have a field day with the year 1973.

Some will remember it as the year the United States disengaged itself from a sticky war in Southeast Asia. Others will call it the year of Watergate.

Any way you slice it, 1973 was a year to remember—for in between those two historic chapters, there was enough drama to last a decade. One huge news event gave way to another, then another in a seemingly endless series of developments.

Those of us in Congress witnessed one inauguration of a President, one resignation of a Vice President and confirmation of another. In between, the world mourned the death of two former Presidents.

It all started in January with the swearing-in of the 93rd Congress. Before the year drew to a reluctant end, we were to distinguish ourselves as one of the most prolific governing bodies in the history of our country—at least as far as the number of votes were recorded are concerned.

Richard Nixon took the oath of office as President in mid-January, then announced a negotiated settlement of a bitter war in Viet Nam. Henry Kissinger, culminating four and a half years of hard negotiations with the North Vietnamese, was given a share of the Nobel Peace Prize for his efforts. Former President Harry Truman died in his Missouri home after a lengthy illness. He had proved to the world that the little man can rise to the top—even against insurmountable odds.

Another former President, Lyndon Johnson, attended Truman's funeral only to fall victim to a heart attack himself a short time later. He died in Texas, leaving the world without a living former President of the United States.

One week after the President announced an end to American involvement in the Southeast Asian conflict, Senator John Stennis was shot during a holdup attempt in front of his Washington home. He was listed in "grave" condition at one point, but fought his way back to good health and returned to his Senate seat before the year was out.

The return of our POW's signalled the end of the Viet Nam war for millions of Americans. Many of those listed as Missing in Action are still unaccounted for, but the search for them continues to this day in South Viet Nam.

Detente, an official relaxing of tension, was established with Red China and with Russia. While there are some fears that we are moving too fast, we are at least talking with these two Communist nations for the first time in years.

And then there's Watergate. Deserving or not, it commanded the headlines throughout the year—and we still haven't resolved it.

More currently, there is the energy crisis. Another war—this one in the Mideast—brought the energy crisis to a head, but that crisis is something we should have seen coming long ago. And it is something that will plague us for years to come.

All in all, we accomplished some things—and we failed in other tests. Without a doubt, though, 1973 will be remembered as a hectic year if nothing else.

Our Readers Write

Dear Sir:

So sorry to have heard of the dog attack incident upon Mr. Ory Bourgeois, our Dog Warden for Waveland. I'm writing this in order to put these nitty gritty facts before the citizens and tax payers. We, the Bay-Waveland Humane Society, have been criticised by a few unsympathetic callous people when they call upon us to pick up roving, abandoned dogs and cats. Once they're grown they become tired and bored with them after puppy hood and kitten cuteness.

We are doing all in our power to take care of many unpleasant and sometimes dangerous situations to accommodate these recalcitrant type of people. They are quick to call upon us, but slow to help. Thank Heaven we do have a few in our organization, God Bless them, who respond generously but these are the folks who never complain or ask for favors. We inform pet owners as politely and courteously as we can if they wish to keep pets, particularly dogs, to have a fence or private dog yard, safely equipped, so as not to run at large.

We have no facility for housing cats. Our Waveland dog pound is now filled to capacity and there are a few more adoptions to be considered before these lovable friendly animals are doomed to death in the gas chamber.

May God forgive these people in power and authority with the affluence to improve the ugly situation of our Waveland dog pound, who really should be catching all the abuse our present Humane Society is now catching from many apparently ungrateful citizens.

Eleanor Everett McFie
Bay-Waveland Humane Society

Dear Editor,

Expressions of sincere gratitude are due Mrs. Eldora Summers from the Pearlinton Community for her unselfish and courageous efforts to keep the store operating until she could make a sale and someone else could take it.

Mr. and Mrs. Summers' efforts to serve the community in and outside the store should not be forgotten. Mrs. Summers continued going alone longer than one could expect because she knew she was not alone. God's holy spirit in whom she trusted was with her. We should remember her in our prayers.

Dear Editor,

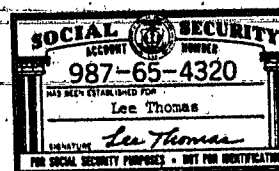

The Kiln-Fenton Branch of the Annunciation CYO went Christmas carolling on December 17th and 18th for St. Jude's Children's Hospital in Memphis. We wish to thank all of the people in our area for their generous response for such a worthy cause.

Darlene Cuevas
Secretary-Treasurer
Annunciation CYO

Dear Editor,

Thank you for publishing my letter but there is a little mistake. I said Jeremiah 10, you said Gen. 10. That probably was due to my poor handwriting. Gen. 10 is the genealogy of Noah's sons but Jeremiah 10 is the way the heathens worshipped. I'll appreciate it if you can put in a correction. There is a big difference.

Local VA News

BY
Chester L. Curvey

There are still veterans and widows of veterans bringing in their Yearly Income Questionnaire to be filled out. It is very important that these cards are returned before Jan. 15, 1974, or you will not receive the check for February. If you are over 72 years old you will not receive the card (21-6875 or 21-6876a). This does not relieve the veteran or widow from reporting a change in income or the number of dependents. An example, the wife of a veteran who is over 72 years old dies. This will change his number of dependents and his income. If the veteran or widow is over 72 and have unusual medical expenses they should report this to the V.A. and it will change their income, even though they are over 72.

Any retired Veteran having a service connected disability has the choice of waiving his retired pay for V.A. Compensation, if the compensation is the greater amount. If for any reason in the future, the compensation becomes less than the retired pay due to cost of living increases or retired pay recomputation, the Finance Center concerned will make up the difference.

The widow of a veteran, in addition to her widow's pension can draw a reduced amount of Social Security on her 60th birthday providing her husband was fully covered at the time of his death. She may also be entitled to monthly benefits as early as 50 years of age if she is prevented from working due to a serious disability. The V.A. also pays $55 per month to widows who are unable to take care of themselves and must have the equivalent of nursing home care, or are in a nursing home.

When a veteran or the widow of a veteran applies for benefits from the V.A. there are certain papers that are necessary for him to make the claim. These papers should be presented at the time the claim is submitted to prevent loss of time in getting the claim to the V.A. They are—Certificate of Discharge DD-214; death certificate, if applicable; divorce decrees, if applicable; birth certificates of minor children and a report from your doctor telling in detail your physical condition for which you are submitting the claim. In the event you do not have these papers, please have the dates and places of the marriage and divorces and they can be obtained.

County Unit System Is Challenge For Legislature

The President of the Mississippi Economic Council has called the county unit issue "an issue of importance that is long overdue."

The MEC President, J.C. Redd, a Jackson business executive, challenged the 1974 Legislature to look at the facts when evaluating the need for county government reform in the upcoming legislative session with an open mind and an eye for progress.

"For too long the Legislature has been guided by emotion and tradition when voting on the issue of county unit," Redd said. "Time after time, year after year, the Legislature has rejected county government reform in the face of overwhelming evidence pointing out the inefficiencies and ineffectiveness of the traditional beat system."

"We are hopeful," Redd continued, "that the Legislature will reassess its position in the upcoming session and pass a good, solid mandatory bill."

"The facts are evident," Redd said. "We have had numerous county road administration studies made over the past 20 years evidencing the need for a unit operation for county roads. Two of the studies—the Automotive Safety Foundation Study and the study of the University of Mississippi—were financed by the Legislature itself. Both noted the need for county unit. The General Legislative Investigating Committee in work done during 1970, 1971, and 1972 also called for a county-unit form of road administration."

"The time has come to put past procrastination behind us and take a progressive step to assure taxpayers economy and efficiency in county government," Redd said. "County government, like government at all levels, is more complex today than ever before," Redd said. "County officials have responsibilities for taxation, road operations, purchasing, recreation, pollution control, and other similar programs. The Council believes it is impossible to operate complex county government on a beat-by-beat basis and, at the same time, realize any measure of economy and efficiency."

The MEC President charged the 1974 Legislature with the responsibility of correcting the errors of past legislative sessions and giving the taxpayers legislation to assure them competent and effective county government.

Tips To Save Gas

With gasoline rationing apparently just around the corner, it could pay to start practicing now on ways of driving to get the most miles per gallon.

GAS USAGE

Experts list many small things you can do to reduce gasoline usage. Added up, they can save you substantial amounts of money over the course of a year. Probably the most important single way to economize is to avoid speeds over 50 miles an hour. Figures below, from actual road tests by the U.S. Department of Transportation, show gas mileages for a 3,900-pound car at various speeds:

SPEED	GASOLINE MILEAGE
30 miles per hour	15.61 miles per gallon
40 miles per hour	14.83 miles per gallon
50 miles per hour	16.98 miles per gallon
60 miles per hour	13.67 miles per gallon
70 miles per hour	11.08 miles per gallon

Note that dawdling at very slow speeds does not increase mileage. These additional tips on saving gasoline come from the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association and American Automobile Association: Jackrabbit starts and sudden stops can cost 2 miles per gallon. Try to maintain a fairly constant speed and minimize starts and stops.

Long warm-ups of the engine should be avoided—they waste gas. Follow, as far as possible, the manufacturer's recommendations on tune ups. Replacing worn spark plugs alone can improve gas economy 6 per cent.

Reduce use of power equipment, such as fan-blowers, as much as possible. Buying higher-octane fuel than is needed is wasteful. Most American automobiles made since 1971 are built to run on regular-grade gas. Underinflated tires and improper front wheel alignment cut mileage.

City Government Feature Resumes

The feature "What Would You Like to Know About the Governmental and-or Financial Affairs of Your Community?" begins again this week in the Echo after a two-week holiday break.

City officials report that they have several inquiries on various public affairs which have not yet been answered. Replies will be published within the coming weeks.

Citizens who have questions dealing with the affairs of the city are urged to use this means of making inquiry. Answers to these matters will give the average citizen a better knowledge of the city's operations. The mayor and commissioners are urging people to voice their complaints, criticisms, or information queries by means of this Echo feature.

Brighten The Office Where You Are

No talking is allowed during business hours. Clothing must be of a sober nature. The clerical staff members will not display themselves in raiment of bright colors.

No member of the clerical staff may leave the room without permission.

Such were the rules posted German designers broke away from the traditional corridor and private offices concept and set up the open office plan. Originally dubbed "Euro-land," which translates as office landscaping, the German open office concept set office design ahead a hundred years!

The German group known as the Quickborner Team was the first to arrange an open office concept with work stations including with the communications needs of the staff. Rather than forbidding communication, the team planned for it; rather than forbidding movement about the office, the open plan side it; rather than creating a drab, lackluster look, the open plan's screens and panels burst with contrasting colors.

American firms were quick to adopt the open office concept. Modern components like those manufactured by the Grand Rapids, Michigan headquarters of Westinghouse A.S.D. Group make the office more than just a place to spend the hours between nine and five.

Based on the theory that a modern office is meant to analyze, interpret, decide and act, rather than read, react and record, office designers are striving to make the involvement of people the rule rather than the exception.

The open office concept popular now, actually began in the late 1950's when a group of mobility and adaptability, key words with today's office staff, are a basic part of the Westinghouse ASD Group's modular components. Their office system is centered around a partition system that enables work stations, files, desks and cabinets to be hung at any height. Each element has the flexibility to be raised or lowered depending upon the staff's job or desire.

The new office landscape is a boon to the owner too, because the need for walls and permanent fixtures are eliminated. The renovation or initial installation of a complete office, a job that took weeks of headaches and hours of expensive electrical and carpentry work is now accomplished in as little as 8 hours.

Business and academic institutions alike are receptive to the open concept because it decreases costs and increases worker productivity. The Westinghouse ASD Group alone has designed and installed more than 2,000 open plan offices throughout the country and the demand for more modular elements is increasing.

So, the next time you visit a new office building or a remodeled old one, check its landscape. If you see a flowing maze of partitions, super graphic designs, movable screens and a forest of plantings, its all the designer's attempt to match a new office life style to a freer work style.

Man Fined For Drug Charges

A total of $750 in fines was levied against a Bay St. Louis man Monday night by Justice of the Peace Donald Corr for narcotics violations.

David Alonso, 22, who gave his address as Rt. 1, Box 58, Bay St. Louis, was arrested Monday and charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. In a hearing the same night, Corr fined Alonso $250 or two months in the county jail for possession of drug paraphernalia, and $500 or five months in the county jail for possession of marijuana.

children can make it to school on buses in 30 minutes."

City school superintendent J.D. McCulloch said Tuesday afternoon that he had not had any complaints from parents since the change to DST, "but if we did change I would have some," he said.

McCulloch said that if city schools started any later parents who had to be at work would have to leave their children alone to wait on school buses.

McCulloch stated that he had talked to Breland and suggested a compromise solution that might satisfy both bodies.

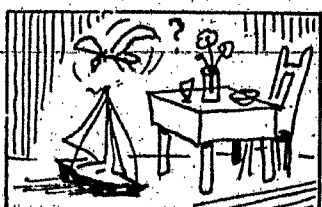

"I told them that if they opened at 8:30 or 8:45 in the morning instead of 8:15 that we could delay our buses to the vocational school by another 15 minutes. So that's a total of 30 minutes."

"Maybe Mr. Sones could find a few more minutes somewhere. That's the only problem I'm faced with. But we just have to keep on the same schedule."

"Certainly we're not trying to tell the county what to do, just what we can do."

Mrs. Richards said that residents of Bayside Park were getting a petition together and were trying to get as many parents as possible to attend the municipal school board meeting Monday night Jan. 14. "It's just going to hurt our school routes if it continues on like this," she said. "Mothers and fathers are afraid to let their children get out, and some are even saying that if this kept up they might have to move out of the district."

"As far as the energy crisis goes," she said, "we are using more energy in the morning burning lights than we did before."

A belief that's basically for the birds is that an albatross hovering above a ship would bring on bad weather!

CRAFTY IDEAS

CLAY TIME
What's more creative than clay? Clay that isn't clay—that is, the kind that you can create in your own kitchen and turn into ceramic-like objects d'art in minutes!

To cook up a batch of this creative clay, combine two cups of baking soda and one cup of Argo Corn Starch in a saucepan. Stir in 1 1/4 cups of cold water until smooth. (For colored clay, tint the water with food coloring.) Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches a slightly moist, mashed potato consistency. Remove from heat, turn out on a plate and cover with a damp cloth until cool enough to handle. Knead it like dough and shape as desired. Store any excess in a tightly closed plastic bag.

You can sculpt it, mold it, cut it with a cookie cutter, bend it into bowls, ashtrays, dishes, spoon rests, creative art or almost anything else. You can get around to that by simply shaping bits of clay into small balls or ovals and piercing them with a pin. String them along for bracelets, necklaces, belts, headbands, curtains, and anything you'd like to draw a bead on. Set objects on a protected surface to dry and harden overnight at room temperature. They'll dry white (unless tinted) and can be painted.

This kind of clay is certainly a clever way to spend a day of creative play!

BWYC Backwash

by Ann Stieffel 467-4300

SUGAR BOWL REGATTA - Marc Eagan emerged victorious in the Race of Champions at the 40th Annual Sugar Bowl Regatta at New Orleans Yacht Club. Eagan and his crew, Eden Eagan and Chris Stieffel, sailed the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Flying Scot in the three race series against the keenest competition offered by the other GYA clubs, and brought BWYC its second consecutive race of champions win. Temperatures were warm but the rain and spray were cold as the fleets sailed out in a tornado scare Saturday and raced through 35-40 knot winds Sunday.

Bay-Waveland sailors competed in several of the events in this Sugar Bowl Regatta. Amy Chapman won a sweeping victory in the Junior Sunfish class with two firsts and a second. Harry Chapman finished third in the Senior Sunfish, behind Bob Whitehurst of Pensacola, first, and Joe Blouin of New Orleans, second.

Don Chamberlain and his crew, Cindy and Ann Stieffel, finished second in all three races of the Flying Scot Open Class, behind Bob Whitehurst, with three firsts. Harry Chapman with Amy and Elizabeth Chapman crewing also raced in the Open Scot class.

Woody Stieffel skipped Jack Gordon's CAL 25 to an overall third with his crew of John Gordon, Mary Kergosien, Jim and Ted Holmes. Bobby Killen and Al Gooch of New Orleans finished first and second respectively in the CAL 25 Class.

Bill Heausler sailed to an overall fourth place finish in his Easterly 30 "Wahoo" with his crew of Tommy Heausler, John Christensen, Charlie Staehle, Dennis and Ray Stieffel, Pete Morrill crewed with Gene Taylor on his Columbia 24 "Riffraff". Woody Santa Cruz crewed on a Soling.

COTTON BOWL REGATTA - Bubby Eagan sailed a long grueling series to finish third in the Cotton Bowl Regatta on Eagle Mountain Lake at Fort Worth, Texas. Eagan and his crew, Buzzy Heausler and Chris Christman, were representing De La Salle High School of New Orleans, whose skipper Marc Eagan won the Cotton Bowl Regatta last year.

This national high school sailing championship was held in Rhodes 19's under the auspices of the interscholastic yacht racing association. Temperatures were below freezing and the 30 knot winds brought the chill factor down below zero. Sails could not be lowered as they froze in their tracks. The crews had to constantly work the sheets to prevent their stiffening with ice.

FAREWELL PARTY - A great crowd of members and guests flocked to the yacht club Saturday evening to bid farewell to Captain Pete Morrill, who is leaving to take command of the United States Coast Guard Icebreaker Westwind. Commodore Ray Stieffel presented a plaque to Captain Morrill from the BWYC Membership in gratitude for his devotion and contributions to Bay Waveland, particularly to the sport of sailing. Captain Morrill served as Vice-Commodore, member of the Board of Governors, Race Committee Chairman and Captain of the 1973 winning Lipton Team.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Poppy Trap Against Trespassers

On the outskirts of town stood an old open-air theater, abandoned for years. The owner of the property, resentful of occasional trespassers, decided to "trap" them. He placed a small bomb under the stage, connecting to a nearby door. Sure enough, a few days later a youthful intruder opened the door, set off the bomb, and suffered fatal injuries. Could the property owner be held legally liable for this tragedy? At a court hearing, he insisted he had the right to safeguard his property against any unlawful intrusion.

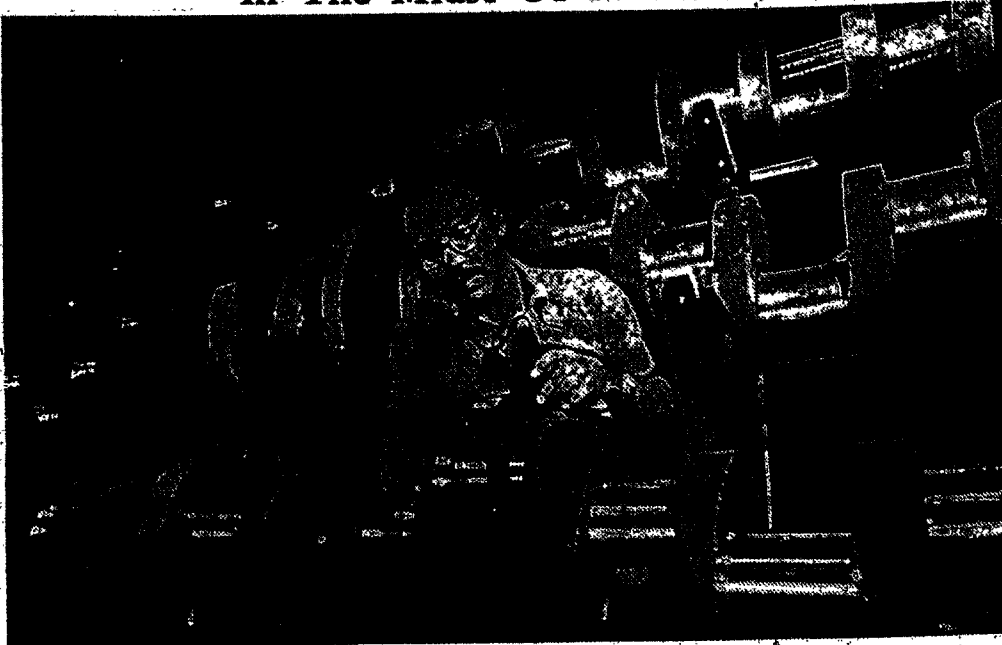

However, a court held him responsible for the young man's death. "It is no defense," said the court, "that (the victim) was a trespasser. While the law authorizes an owner to protect his property by reasonable means, considerations of humanity preclude him from setting traps dangerous to the life and limb of those whose presence may be anticipated, even though they may be trespassers."

On the other hand, less drastic measures against trespassers have usually been upheld. One case involved a barbed-wire fence which a home owner put up to stop pedestrians from taking short cuts across his front lawn. This time, when an injured trespasser claimed damages, the court turned him down. The judge said the wire obstacle, in plain sight, was a reasonable way for the owner to protect his lawn.

Of course, the right to use force is greater where there is menace not only to property but also to people. Accordingly, most courts have sanctioned the use of deadly force, if necessary, against burglars breaking into a home. As one judge put it:

"The idea that a man's house is his castle is not that it is his property. The sense in which the house has a peculiar immunity is that it is sacred for the protection of his person and his family."

In The Midst Of A Twister

Resembling rows of giant corkscrews, crankshafts for locomotive engines are readied for inspection at Electro-Motive Division of General Motors, McCook, Illinois. An EMD employee measures machining accuracy on one of units, which weighs 3,800 pounds. It will go into a 20-cylinder, 3,600 horsepower engine designed to power a road freight locomotive weighing up to 200 tons. Division is nation's leading manufacturer of Diesel-electric locomotives for U.S. and overseas railroads.

A SUCCESSFUL SUSPENSE STORY

The title? How best to suspend the four-wheels of an automobile. The authors? The engineers of the Bavarian Motor Works of Munich, West Germany. Manufacturers of the world's finest sports sedans—and the acknowledged best motorcycle.

It's the suspension. A first, designed by them in 1936 for their fabulous automobiles. It was so successful from the start that the principles employed have been adapted since by almost all manufacturers of high performance cars.

You know how important it is to have a good suspension. Think of it. The contact surface between road and automobile—and the lightest of them are no lightweights—is no bigger than the size of four pennies. I beg your pardon, four nickel postcards. And when you turn a corner, with an ordinary suspension, the road contact is even less. Because the wheels don't remain at a 90° angle to the road surface.

They do with BMW's sus-

The superb 3 liter BMW rides on that fabulous BMW suspension that makes driving a real pleasure.

Independent on all four wheels. Spring struts in front and semi-trailing arms with a unique multi-jointed axle in the rear. With this system wheel camber—lateral changes and a BMW is like glued to the road even on the sharpest of curves.

Of course, since coming out with this system in 1936, BMW's engineers have tested it year after year on the race tracks of the world and on the tortuous mountain roads of Bavaria. And improved and refined it to a point where today very few cars can match the road holding of a BMW.

As a result these quick BMW sports sedans are agile like rabbits, take turns smoothly and stay firmly on the road with all four. No matter how fast or how rough.

Let me tell you, if a man likes to drive, driving a BMW will give him a real kick.

It's a success story indeed, the story of BMW's sporty suspension.

According to anthropologist Margaret Mead, American youth get a significant part of their education by reading the information on cereal packages.

Now is the time to warm your pipes

MISSISSIPPI STATE — As the days get shorter and colder, homeowners, farmers and especially persons living in mobile homes should begin making plans to keep water pipes from freezing.

"Electric heating tape or cable is a practical means of providing protection for water pipes. If properly installed, it is safe, economical, and completely automatic," reported John McVey, Extension agricultural engineer. "Tapes and cables are available in a variety of lengths. It is possible to obtain a standard manufactured length that is suitable for most applications."

Cables should not be cut or spliced since this alters the wattage. The wattage of tape and cables recommended for use on water pipes ranges from five to eight watts per linear foot. Many 120-volt standard tapes have an electrical cord with the plug molded on the end for plugging directly into an electrical outlet.

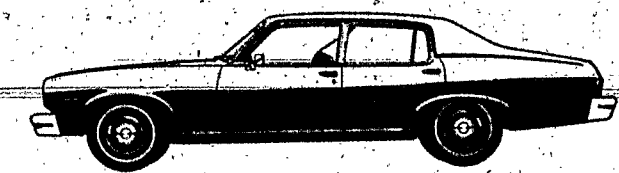

McVey said a thermostat is generally recommended for use with tapes on water pipes. It will save electricity and provide worry-free protection.

"There are various types of insulation that may be wrapped around the pipes over the heating tape. Insulation is quite inexpensive and will reduce the operating cost considerably," he added. "Rolls of insulation and waterproof outer wrap designed for use on water pipes are available at many stores."

GOLDEN TOUCH OF HOSPITALITY

... from Best Foods Kitchens

Gravy Making Is Easy

"The meat makes the meal" is an old rule for menu making, for it is around the meat course that the rest of the meal is planned. To cook young cooks, this part is easy. But men usually expect a gravy with the meat course—and for many novice cooks this is a stumbling block. Actually, making gravy is easy when corn starch is used as the thickening agent, for it gives consistently smooth results. Now, with the concern about excess cholesterol in the diet, it is especially important to use only a very small amount of meat drippings in the gravy. Do cook the gravy in the roasting pan, though, to get the flavor from the browned meat juices.

Gravy

2 tablespoons fat drippings
2 cups water, broth, milk or other liquid
Measure fat drippings and return 2 tablespoons to pan. Stir in water, broth, milk or other liquid. Stir over medium heat, scraping pan to loosen browned meat juices. Remove from heat. Mix together corn starch and ¼ cup water. Stir into liquid mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gravy thickens and boils. Season as desired and simmer gravy a few minutes to blend flavors. Makes 2 cups.

Now that Christmas and the New Year holiday have passed fishermen and hunters will probably get back to normal provided the weather settles down. With all the rain and inclement weather of the past two weeks things haven't been right for either fishing or hunting. Most streams have been on the bad side. As for hunting the fields have been water soaked. Too wet for rabbit hunting, quail, snipe, or woodcock hunting. There is still some time left for hunting and things might improve.

Duck and goose seasons are still open and according to those going to the marshes, they have been doing pretty good.

Willie Willimitis told me that he and his hunting buddies have been getting their share of ducks on each hunt out at the marshes.

A family from New Orleans are Roger Ural, Virginia, Kent, Keith and Kelly who are real sports. They love swimming, crabbing, golf and tennis. They live in Metairie, La. Always ready to go. Never a dull moment in their lives, they claim.

It is with regret we announce the death of Harry Brooks recently. Harry was a real sport and likeable fellow. He lived in Waveland. Playing golf and fishing were his favorite sports.

Jos. T. Asher lives in Waveland. His pastimes are fishing and hunting. Goes whenever conditions are right. Gets results too.

John Porter has a fishing boat which he enjoys with his sons, Wayne and Shane, his wife, Joyce, and daughter, Kelly. A real family of fishermen. They go on every occasion.

Richard Rehm would only say that he plays golf, fishes and crabs. Proves that all fishermen are not liars.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Breaux do mostly fishing and crabbing. On the side line Warren plays pool. Yep, they are our kin folks.

Spent a wonderful Christmas in New Orleans with our son-in-law and daughter, Ray and Joan Hoffman and the little pelicans. Granny was with us. Had a great time.

Geo. Farrell with a construction Co. in New Orleans does a lot of cray fishing at Michoud, La. Says the mud bugs are still plentiful if you know how to get 'em. Think you are right, George. How about a trip?

Mike Totten likes most sports but enjoys hunting most. Still going he said.

Carlos Ladner said he has been too busy during the holidays to go fishing or hunting. Will get going soon he hopes. Working on a dredge boat.

Susie Chalmers claims to be from Australia. Her sport is horse back riding. Said she tried to ride a Kangaroo. Must have been rough going.

Was a pleasure meeting Merrick W. Swords, Jr., National Vice-Commander of the American Legion, from New Orleans. He fishes and crabs. Still bragging about his trip to Hawaii where he did some fishing.

E. P. "Hungry" Exnelouis is always hungry for salt water fish. Spends a lot of time salt water fishing and does pretty good he said.

Was a pleasure meeting Pat Chist, city editor of the Daily Times of Slidell, La. Pat is a busy woman but finds time for a little fishing and crabbing, etc. Plenty of both over this way, when the weather gets better.

Gene Lueders made a deer hunt and fishing trip to Lodi, Miss. North of Jackson Friday. He hopes to kill a deer and get some big green trout. The deer should weigh 200 lbs. and the green trout 10 lbs. are his predictions.

Sam Fayre who has been hospitalized is out and doing O.K. on last reports. Sam is one of our ardent fishermen.

Not much on the hunting side just now. However Harry Roman said that he and his hunting partners have been killing a few quail. Quail hunting is a pain when the ground is full of water. The dogs are unable to work effectively. Still time left to get the prized birds, however.

Glad to report that Tut Mont is home after being hospitalized. Tut is doing better according to reports.

Mark Eagan of Bay St. Louis received a trophy from John Boebinger president of the Mid-Winter sports Assn. as winning skipper of the Race of Champions on Lake Pontchartrain. Eagan's crew was Ellen Eagan and Chris Steffel, all local sailors from Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

A slow down was reported regarding fishing at such places as Grand Isle, Delacroix Island, Hopedale and Empire over in Louisiana. These places are excellent for salt water fishing most any old time. A little away if you want good fishing, try them. If you want to catch big fish they are usually there. But we have good fishing. It is right here, out at the marsh, at Half Moon or at such spots as Pole Cat Bend, Upper and Outer Campbell Bayous, Three Oak Bayou, Long Point, etc. Easier to get to and much cheaper per trip. Bass and perch can be caught most any where around here when conditions are normal and the water clear. Ask someone who goes, such as John Scaife, Sr. and Jr., Alden Maufrey, J.C. Baxter, August Rauxet, Emmet Demoran and Son, Ace Jones, etc. They will know when things are right.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Capdepon have as their guest their son Capt. H. P. Capdepon, Jr. Capt Capdepon is with the U.S. Marine Corps enroute to MAG-36 Okinawa Helicopters, a group at Fatima Okinawa in Support of the 7th Fleet. Henry is an aircraft Maintenance Officer for the First Marine Aircraft Wing.

Mr. and Mrs. Capdepon, Sr. had a family reunion Sunday including Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bassett, Pascagoula, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Higgins, Gulfport; Mrs. C. L. Bolin of Los Angeles, Calif.; and Capt. and Mrs. Hy Capdepon, Jr. with their children Bridget, Henry, Paul, III and John Wesley who will reside in Gulfport while the captain is overseas.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK - Edmond Fahey, better known to everyone as Junior Fahey is a good sport. He does some fishing, plays golf and hunts. He is always ready to participate in anything.
